J. AB HUGHES DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME, JACKSON TOWNSHIP

James Ab Hughes, age 68 years, died Monday evening at 10:15 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel Crawford, five miles west of Roscoe, following a brief illness from heart trouble and pneumonia. For the past ten days he had been ill, but his condition was such that he was able to be up and around Sunday. Monday morning he became quite ill and rapidly grew worse until the end came.

Born October 10, 1852 in Jackson Tp., Mr. Hughes spent the greater part of his life in that vicinity, where he was engaged in farming.

Forty-two years ago he was united in marriage with Miss Maloney Wolford, whose death occurred last October 10. Besides the two children born to them, Mrs. Dan Crawford and Fred Hughes of Jackson Tp., five grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Hughes was a member of the Baptist church at Canal Lewisville, and a man who possessed a wide circle of friends.

The Rev. C. C. Erwin will be in charge of the funeral services, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, from Pleasant Hill church and burial will be made in that cemetery.

WARSAW MAN DIES IN SANITARIUM AT COLUMBUS MONDAY

Funeral services for Edward Darr, who died Monday morning in the Franklin-co tuberculosis institution, following a lingering illness, were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal church at Warsaw. The Rev. E. B. McBroom was in charge and interment made in Valley View cemetery.

Edward Darr was born February 13, 1868, near Warsaw.

He was engaged in the livery business in that vicinity until two years ago when he was forced to give up his work because of ill health.

Twenty-seven years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Elmore Darr, who preceded him to the grave twelve years ago. To this union, two children were born, both of whom survive. They are Mrs. C. C. Rodock, of Nellie and a son, Clifford, thirteen years of age.

For the past two years Mr. Darr had been afflicted with the dread disease which eventually caused his death and during the last year was confined to the sanitarium where he succumbed early Monday morning.

Mr. Darr was a faithful member of the M. E. church at Warsaw and a highly respected citizen in that community.

WHITE ROBIN RETURNS TO OLD HAUNTS AT STEWART CARRIAGE WORKS THIRD CONSECUTIVE SEASON; SPRING IS HERE

George Stewart's white robin has returned again to its old home in the rear of the Stewart carriage shop on west Mulberry-st.

This is the third season that the albino robin, which is one of the freaks of the bird world, has made its home in the vicinity of the carriage shop.

The bird is snow white with the exception of the lower portion of its breast which is the usual red color. Its back is also speckled with black feathers. When it spreads its wings in flight it makes a most beautiful appearance, the spread wings appearing perfectly white. It is quite tame and can be observed in almost every position by watching it for a few minutes. It stays close to the carriage shop and George Stewart's home.

Mr. Stewart says that the bird is most obliging, for when the sceptics put in appearance to discredit the story of a white robin, the bird is sure to fly past and uphold Stewart's reputation as a truthful man.

The strange freak of nature that produces the white or albino robin is analogous to the process which develops the silver fox, according to those who know. Science can not explain it. It is estimated that a white robin is hatched to each one hundred thousand redbreasts.

The bird which makes its home here has all the characteristics of the ordinary redbreast, and leaves for the summer climate late in October. The offspring are ordinary redbreasts.

Mr. Stewart hopes to be able to get a number of good pictures of the bird this season.

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS TO ENGAGE IN A BIRD-HOUSE BUILDING CAMPAIGN; BEST HOUSE TO WIN A PRIZE FOR BUILDER

"A Scout is kind."

This is one of the 12 laws taught the Boy Scouts which will be actively enforced during this month.

To the Scout the law means that he must be a friend to all animals, that he will not hurt or kill any living creature needlessly, and that he will strive to save and protect all harmless life.

Following out the meaning of the law, the local Boy Scouts will start a bird-house building campaign immediately to provide safe shelter for the song birds during the coming season.

Each of the four troops of Scouts in the city have entered into a contest to determine which Scout can build the best and most practical house, suitable for either a blue-bird, house wren, woodpecker, white breasted nuthatch, tree swallow, martin, or robin.

The winner of the contest will receive a regulation Boy Scout knife.

Scoutmaster W. F. Tankersley has prepared some directions for the building of the bird-houses for the Scouts, which will probably be of interest to (Continued on Page Five)

HARDING'S PLAN TO KEEP PEACE WOULD EMBODY REDUCT'N IN WAR ARMAMENT

President Stresses Term "Approximate Disarmament" In An Interview
WILL CONSULT SOLONS
Long Conference is Held With Republican Leaders at White House

WASHINGTON, March 8.—"Approximate disarmament," will be the proffer of President Warren G. Harding for world peace.

The phrase was carefully chosen by the president as he stood upon the threshold of the main doorway of the white house early this morning.

The president stressed the adjective "approximate" with special emphasis as bareheaded and smiling, he faced the newspaper correspondent pressing him for a commitment on disarmament.

The inflection he bestowed upon it left no doubt as to his meaning. What he said was brief and pointed, but in an instant he conjured up the American nation, unwilling to be disarmed or unprepared for defense, but willing to join with other nations in abolishing excessive armament.

Republican leaders of congress were still rolling away in well polished limousines from the brilliantly illuminated portico early this morning as the president frankly discussed the long conference he had with them since early evening.

There had been differences of opinion between the Republican leaders with whom he had conferred at dinner (Continued on Page Five)

EASTER WARDROBE, ESPECIALLY BONNET, IS ENGAGING ATTENTION OF MILADY AS WARM SPRING SUNS COAX TULIPS THRU

With the first balmy days and the soft warm breezes, announcing the approach of spring, the mind of the fairer sex naturally turns to the spring wardrobe. "What shall I wear for Easter?"

Of course you will want one of those smart spring suits, preferably dark blue in color, which is unusually serviceable and especially good this year. Or if this seems a bit too dull or sombre, a touch of gray may be worn and is very much in vogue.

Suits of all models and styles to please even the most exacting may be found this season in local stores. Tailored suits, plain suits and fancy suits, beaded and braided, may be had to select from. Box coats with raglan sleeves and plaited skirts are winning favor with the young miss and are especially becoming to the dainty, petite maiden. A revival of the once popular circular skirt is being shown in some few models, but fashion still clings to the neat, plain, narrow skirt.

The edge of the jacket may be curved, straight or in points. The shorter jacket almost invariably features a slash of soft material, gracefully draped to resemble that used on many Spanish costumes.

But what is Easter without a new spring bonnet? Never have the shapes, styles and colors been so fascinating, so chic, so thoroughly pleasing and lovely as those being turned out this season in local millinery shops.

For the tailored woman, she will find among a wide selection of styles, something to suit the most fastidious taste. Black and white is cleverly combined this season, white pheasant, gray and blue have a foremost place (Continued on Page Five)

Lawyers and Reporters at Williamson Rush Into the Street, Scantily Clad, at Sound of Gun—Only a Murder Over a Woman So They Go Back to Bed

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., March 8.—A man killed another over a woman here last night. As a result the trigger trial court crowd seemed to take more interest in the proceedings today.

Earl Chapman is under arrest, charged with the murder of William Allen. Both are railroad men.

Five shots rang out in the stillness of the night about 12:15 a. m. A thrill gripped those who heard them. "Is this the beginning of the end?" seemed to be the question on the lips of all who heard the shots.

What happened then was an illustration of preparedness. The "Feltis floor" in the Hotel Vaughn was alive with men. The Anderson twins, World war veterans who miraculously escaped from the Matewan gun battle that led to the trial of 17 men for their lives were among the first to reach the street. Ex-Judge Marcum was there in his shirt sleeves. Newspapermen were engaged in a "friendly game" when the shots were sounded.

Five minutes after the first shot, practically every attorney connected with the bullet battle case was out on the street, scantily dressed, to find out what had happened. State police were there to supervise the negotiations.

When it was found that the killing of Allen had no bearing on the trigger trial everybody went to bed.

to me as she stood in her front yard out in Marion, Ohio, one morning last fall.

The campaign was at its height. Stump speakers were painting the republican presidential candidate as a puppet going through a public performance that was manipulated from behind the scenes by clever politicians.

Mrs. Harding, accustomed as she was to the open fighting of a hot political campaign, could not restrain her resentment under what she earnestly felt was a gross injustice to the man at whose side she had struggled beginning back in the days when she was circulation manager for her husband's newspaper.

The new President and his wife are today at the zenith of a career that has consisted largely of hard work. As a boy Harding painted barns for farmers living in his neighborhood in Morrow county, Ohio. As a young man he subbed on the old Marion Democrat and was fired for being too outspokenly republican in his politics. Early middle life found him struggling with his own little newspaper, trying to squeeze a living out of it. In those days Mrs. Harding, daughter of Amos Kling, Marion's rich man, spent her days at the newspaper office. She man-

 WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this special sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.
 It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get about two ounces of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist. Use it like a cold cream.

aged the newsmen, counted the papers off of the press for them, collected subscription money and kept a sharp eye out for new business. She is a hustler by instinct and as a girl insisted on earning her own pin money giving piano lessons.

His Record
 Then Harding was elected to the state legislature, became lieutenant governor of Ohio, was defeated for governor, ran for the U. S. senate and came back and today enters the White House as the twenty-ninth president of the United States.

So Mrs. Harding who had seen her husband toiling through these years could not bear to have him robbed of the credit she felt was due him.

But their success has not made them proud. There is a simplicity in President Harding. He is a plain man from a small middle western town, who considers his rise in the world due more to hard work than to genius or brilliancy. And he goes into the White House feeling that way about himself.

"The country has been almost wrecked by 'great men,'" he said, talking to some of his friends one night recently. "I believe the world needs good old-fashioned horse sense now, more than it ever did before and if I can bring some of that good sense to bear on our problems I believe I will have made a genuine contribution to the country's welfare."

That is the frame of mind in which this man from Ohio passed through the White House doors today and took up one of the most difficult jobs in the world. It is that frame of mind which sometimes causes people who do not understand him to say he is weak and uncertain of himself. But his advisors know better than that.

"Don't you ever think Harding is weak," one of them said. "His effort to keep an open mind, to hear all sides of a question, to give every man an opportunity to state his case may sometimes appear to his own disadvantage."

The inside history of the campaign and the selection of the cabinet disclose several instances of Harding's firmness once his mind has been made up.

During the campaign Harding was closed out of one hot summer day in an upper room of his headquarters house at Marion with half a dozen party leaders. Cox was then starting on his western tour and the Harding forces were apprehensive of its effect. Harding's advisors were urging him to make a similar trip. The candidate was opposed to it. They argued earnestly. Harding backed up against the wall with his party advisors circled around him. Late in the afternoon, newspaper correspondents were called in. The atmosphere was tense. It was apparent that the session had been heated.

"Boys," Senator Harding began, "we have been discussing the question of campaign speeches, as you know. You can put this in your paper. There will be a few speeches in several states during the campaign. But we are going to stick to the front porch for the most part."

Opposed to Root
 After election, a drive was started to make Elihu Root secretary of state. Harding believed Hughes was the man for the job. Root's supporters worked for weeks before they finally decided that Harding was a more determined man than they had suspected.

Harding's kindly disposition is another of his virtues which often gets him into trouble. He will go to any inconvenience to save offending someone's feelings unnecessarily. He will do anything he possibly can to oblige even those who have no claim on him. No stranger ever approached Harding, wishing to shake his hand and was refused. When Harding was on his way to Texas for a vacation after election, crowds along his route were so insistent that he had to make rear end appearances at every stop. It was a Saturday and he was very tired. Arriving at St. Louis about 9 o'clock he received a telegram from a small town a hundred miles or so ahead asking if he would not appear for a few minutes on the rear platform as his train passed through, so they could get a look at him. Harding sat up until 1 o'clock Sunday morning so that he might not disappoint the handful of people who had waited several hours for him at this little place.

"A man can't be a crab," he said on another occasion after he had broken a resolve to make no public appearance. "Those people had arranged this little affair and though I needed the rest, I just didn't have the heart to turn them down."

Loyal to Friends
 Harding is loyal to his friends. He owes much to Harry M. Daugherty, of Columbus, Ohio, his most trusted advisor, who has helped him steer through many dangerous passages. After the nomination Daugherty was under fire, not only from the democratic camp, but from many republican leaders who were jealous of Daugherty's position and wanted to force him out of the inner circle.

Harding, discovering this, promptly came to Daugherty's defense. The day Harding returned to Marion after his nomination his neighbors all came down to his house to welcome him back. Daugherty was there. Harding spoke a few words of greeting. Then turning to Daugherty he said, "Step out here, Harry."

"I want you all to know my friend, Harry Daugherty," Harding said, "He is the greatest fighter and the most loyal friend that ever lived."

And Harding has never let any influence no matter how powerful come between himself and Daugherty. There was opposition to Daugherty's going into the cabinet, but it got nowhere with Harding.

President Harding goes into the White House in fine physical trim for the trying years ahead. He always loved outdoor life and has thru his life taken time for recreation.

Safeguards Health
 The untimely collapse of his predecessor in the White House has served as a warning to Harding who has taken every precaution to safeguard his health. Having a robust constitution naturally, he has taken exercise with great regularity for years. During the campaign and since he has taken as much time as possible for relaxation, mostly on the golf links.

He comes back from six weeks in Florida in perfect health. He worked off much excess flesh. He took on a heavy tan and the lines which appeared on his face during the "best mind conferences" in Marion, when he was unable to get out because of inclement weather, have faded. His eyes are brighter than ever and twinkle with a kindly humor.

Of all sports the new president is most fond of golf. He plays a good average game. It would not be considered a brilliant one. He never fails to make a few holes in par. His game has probably been worse since his nomination than before, because he can seldom play without having a trail of curious spectators following him around, an experience which proves disastrous to the best of golfers.

He is fond of fishing, preferring to battle with tarpon and other big sea fish, rather than the smaller river fish.

In his earlier days he boasted a local reputation in Marion as a horse-shoe pitcher, but when someone in Florida heard about it and invited him to participate in a tournament, he begged off, saying he was afraid he couldn't throw the ringers as he used to. He did play some with the policeman who patrolled the Mount Vernon Avenue beat in Marion last summer, when he was unable to get away for golf.

The Harding's will be at the theater as much probably as Wilson was before his breakdown. Both are extremely fond of that form of entertainment.

An Interesting Woman

Mrs. Harding probably will go down in White House history as one of the most interesting women who ever presided over the executive mansion's household. She is the hustling housekeeper type who sees to it that everything is done as and when it should be done. When the Hardings were preparing to abandon their Marion home a few weeks ago, Mrs. Harding put on an apron, a dust cap, and went up into the attic to sort out the old discarded belongings. Visitors passing could see her head appearing at the attic window when she frequently came to throw out old hats and boxes to Frank the chauffeur, who was waiting on the ground below.

She cares little for precedent and no one has ever been able to find a trace of affectation about her. She has her own tastes in dress, music and literature. Having had six years in the capital during her husband's term as senator, she knows the "Washington society" game from the inside. Ambitious "climbers" who expect to take liberties with the woman from Marion, Ohio, will find that she knows their game and they can expect to make little progress. But there is nothing stern or forbidding about Mrs. Harding. She is open, frank, and utters her pronounced opinions without any assumption of superiority.

Hundreds of women met her during the campaign. Tourists who drove thru Marion and the delegations who came to the front porch were as much interested to know what Mrs. Harding was like as they were about her husband. Any number of occasions can be recalled when she would be hailed from the curb by some passing tourist. Maybe it was a farmer family driving thru in a flivver. She has been seen many times to go out, announce herself as Mrs. Harding, engage them in conversation and maybe take the whole family for a tour of the headquarters building.

In Marion she was at home to everyone, neighbor or stranger, rich or poor. She says she intends to be the same in the White House.

Dr. Harrigan's Advice to Nerve Exhausted People

It's worth your while to read what a New York specialist has to say about the nerve and brain cell builder that the Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co. sells so much of these days. He writes:

"Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic or run down, take natural unadulterated substances such as Bitro-Phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy and strength of body and mind."

Bitro-Phosphate is a pure organic phosphate, such as good physicians prescribe to create abundant nerve force.

The Long Working Day In Steel

A hundred years ago the twelve- and fourteen-hour working day was the usual stint. Industry inherited from agriculture the custom of working from sun to sun. Then invention improved artificial lighting, and the working day grew longer. Revolt and reform came and the day was shortened.

The eight-hour day for manual workers is now generally approved, as the declarations of the International Labor Conference have witnessed. But in one basic industry of America the long working day has lingered. Other industries and other countries have changed, but the steel trade of this land has been unbending. For American steel workers machinery and organized production have increased and not lightened the load of human labor.

The extent and the meaning of this long working day in the steel industry have been the subject of a series of inquiries by the Cabot Fund of Boston. Reports giving the present facts and estimating the forces for improvement are published in the Survey today. John A. Fitch, who made one of the principal investigations, reported that a considerable majority of the employees in American blast furnaces, steel works, and rolling mills work twelve hours a day. In contrast Great Britain has the eight-hour day in the steel industry, while Belgium, France, Germany, Sweden, Spain, Italy and Japan have either the eight-hour day or the three-shift system. Measured by the working hours the United States is in this respect clearly a backward nation.

The interviews reported with men who are employed on the long shift and with their families portray lucidly the human costs of excessive hours of toil. Mr. Fitch interviewed some of the same men to whom he had talked twelve years ago when the Pittsburgh survey was being made. Some of the steel workers are given the eight-hour day because, being employed in the armor-plate department, they are subject to governmental regulations. One such worker said when he was employed twelve hours he used to be so tired "he didn't know what he was doing." The eight-hour system meant time for rest and for home life.

Another worker who twelve years ago thought the twelve-hour day "a part of the game," now at thirty-six, looks fifty, and is disgusted with the industry. "A man has no pleasure in life at all," he complained. "I never go out evenings when I am working on the day turn because I don't dare lose any sleep. On night turns I have no evenings, so life is nothing but work and sleep. A man hardly knows his family." High wages this skilled worker found no compensation for the remorseless regime.

The system breaks men and destroys home life. Its effect on women is appalling. By the routine in vogue men may work eleven hours on the day shift, thirteen hours at night, and seven days a week. Once in fourteen days the worker has a twenty-four-hour stretch. Women are busy preparing meals an hour and more both before and after the men leave home for work. Twelve hours for men implies fifteen hours for their wives. No time is left for social life. Men cannot study at evening classes. They have no energy left for the community. Steel strips them of strength and youth. It denies them simple happiness. It deprives them of the opportunity to function as free men.

Most independent steel companies follow the practice of the United States Steel Corporation in this matter, but there are notable exceptions. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, the Inland Steel Company, the International Harvester Company, the Ford Motor Company, and others which operate blast furnaces have the three-shift system. The United States Steel Corporation has itself a committee which is investigating the question of working hours. It may well be that this time of unemployment will be utilized to get rid of the humanly and socially indefensible twelve-hour day.

In many matters such as, for example, in the stabilization of steel prices and in the protection of its workers against accidents, the steel corporation has been an acknowledged leader. Its service to the nation would be greatly increased if its working shifts were shortened to a reasonable and decent basis.

Financial Letter

NEW YORK, March 7.—Controversy about the final settlement of the reparations and international debt questions has continued to be the largest element in the economic situation both at home and abroad. Foreign Secretary Simon of Germany told the Allied Premiers on Tuesday that a payment of 30,000,000,000 marks free of the proposed export tax on foreign trade would be all that Germany could do. The fact that the conference was immediately adjourned by Premier Lloyd George indicates little except an indisposition to be imposed upon by the German attitude. Meanwhile, the insistent demands of a Senatorial Committee that Secretary Houston supply it with all data relating to foreign credits during the closing hours of Congress is merely another example of effort to make a belated political record regarding a matter to which Congress has for over two years given little or no attention. Both reparations and American debt policy are matters which will require early and careful attention in the new Administration, for both must be settled in order to lay a foundation for any permanent international relationships.

Steel Prices and Railroad Earnings

Discussion of the steel price situation has been the central factor on the industrial side of the market during the past week, just as the question of railroad earnings has afforded the chief problem among the railway issues. The two are more closely connected than appears on the surface. The United States Steel Corporation has succeeded in establishing a "stable figure" some 75 per cent higher on the average than the level maintained before the war. Independents, on the other hand, have cut their prices to a point not far from cost of production and much below that of the steel corporation. Nevertheless, independents have obtained little business and are now running at about 25 per cent of capacity. The steel corporation is running at about two-thirds of capacity, but its unfilled orders are steadily declining. The situation is attributed in large measure to uncertainty as to future prices, and hence the demand in many quarters for a cut by United States Steel, which, it is supposed, would reassure consumers against future changes. Low earnings of the railroads, which are reported below an annual rate of 2 per cent for December, and will figure

WALT MASON

THE HARDEST TEST
I try to bear life's many ills with fortitude and grit; if I am pale around the gills, the fact I won't admit I still attempt to smile and sing when burdened down by care; the smile may be a ghastly thing, but still you'll find it there. I've smiled when joints seemed all afire with fierce rheumatic pain; I've smiled when I must change a tire in darkness, mud and rain. I've smiled when agents sold me stock in mines that didn't pay, and when I slid around a block upon a slippery day. I've smiled beneath misfortune's whacks, and raised no doleful din; but when I pay my income tax, I don't attempt a grin. There is a time to preach and dance as wise apostles say, and there's a time to whoop and prance, and chortle and be gay; but he is in discretion lax, or else he's full of guile, who pines up his income tax, and wears a cheer-up smile. His smile may reach from ear to ear, it even may be twin, but none can feel he is sincere, that he means what he grins. "There's some fell purpose in his mirth" beholders will agree; "for no white man upon the earth can pay this tax with glee. The coin we tolled so hard to get, in pain defying words, our Uncle Samuel will get—and throw it to the birds. And so no man of purpose high, no man who earns the bones, can pay that tax without a sigh, without a brace of groans."

are out even less than that for recent weeks, are now admittedly due to high operating expenses, included among which is the high cost of materials. A cut in steel prices would put the railroads in better condition. Wage reorganization is also needed.

Railroad Finance

The application of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad for permission to issue $103,000,000 in bonds, for the purpose of meeting the 4 per cent issue maturing next July, has been declined by the Interstate Commerce Commission and will make necessary the revising of the plan of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific companies for taking care of the loan at maturity. The fact that the Commission has allowed a $5,000,000 stock issue poorly offsets its action in refusing permission to issue the bonds. This outcome, however, is not regarded as having any general significance or as indicating an unfavorable attitude on the part of the Commission, but as being largely a technical matter.

Dividends and Prices

Difficulty in borrowing and high rates have further combined with unfavorable year-end statements to bring about suspensions of dividends, several of some importance having been announced during the past week. An encouraging factor is the apparently conservative policy as to "charge offs," which has been pursued by some of the larger corporations, including American Woolen and others. Further reduction in prices, as reflected in a reduction of 5 points in the latest index of the Federal Reserve Board, shows that the public is at last beginning to get some of the savings involved in readjustment.

There continues to be a steady improvement in the technical banking position, notwithstanding that for the past week there was a fractional recession in the Federal Reserve ratio, which brought it below 50 per cent of liabilities. Spring demands have now set in at various points throughout the country where early agricultural operations are in progress. The policies of the new Administration as set forth in the President's inaugural address are sound and business-like and should go a long way toward restoring normal conditions. His statements that the Government must withdraw from business and cease from interfering with it, that credit facilities must be made adequate; that tax burdens must be made lighter and that abnormal expenditures must be reduced will undoubtedly, if carried out, do much to restore confidence in the business world which is so sadly lacking at the present time.

Market Review and Outlook

Trading conditions have been comparatively quiescent during the past week. The market is still struggling hard to emerge from the rut into which it has fallen, but the fact that the "bear" element is unable to shake out long stock is very encouraging, indicating, as it does, that with anything like favorable developments very little buying will be required to give prices an uplift. Thus, for instance, if the London conference should shortly produce good results it is conceivable that the outstanding bear account, which is fairly large, would be in a more or less uncomfortable position. The fact that the stock market holds up as well as it does in the face of trying conditions is a good indication of its inherent strength. Dullness will no doubt prevail for some time yet, but stocks picked up on small setbacks ought to be a good investment.

PROMINENT SINN FEINERS ARE DRAGGED FROM BED AND SHOT, THEIR WIVES DEFENDING THEM

DUBLIN, March 8.—George Clancy, mayor of Limerick and councillor Michael O'Callaghan former mayor of Limerick, were both shot to death in their homes at Limerick early today.

Clancy was attacked in his bed at 1:30 o'clock by a band of armed men who had broken into his home. His wife was badly wounded trying to defend him. She died later.

Owing to the military curfew it was two hours before a physician could reach the Clancy home. The conditions were similar to the murder of Lord Mayor McCurtain at Cork a year ago. Both Clancy and O'Callaghan were Sinn Feiners, as was McCurtain.

Both were dragged from their beds. As the attackers began firing at Clancy, Mrs. Clancy threw her own body before her husband. One of the bullets intended for the mayor struck her.

Clancy was the fourth mayor to be murdered in office. Sinn Feiners both here and at Limerick attribute his death to the Black and Tans.

O'Callaghan was a wealthy manufacturer. Mrs. O'Callaghan, his wife, fought desperately in an effort to save him and was badly hurt. The bodies of both Clancy and O'Callaghan were riddled with bullets.

News of a third murder was later received from Limerick. The victim was a young man named O'Donovan. He was killed this morning.

I have been suffering with chronic stomach trouble, bowel trouble and nervousness for over six years. I consulted four of the best doctors in this city in an effort to find the cause of my trouble. I took all the medicines as prescribed. I dieted and finally found myself in such condition that I could only eat breakfast foods, bread and milk and a few predigested foods. I was continually getting worse instead of better and was not able to work more than four or five days a week. In February, this year, I started taking Haddad's Stomach Elixir. PACKING COMPANIES

REDUCE MEN'S WAGES

EFFECTIVE MARCH 14

CHICAGO, March 8.—Wages of employees of the two largest packing establishments in the U. S.—Armour and Co.; Swift and Co.—will be reduced effective March 14, according to unofficial announcement today.

Workers here, paid by the hour, will be asked to accept a cut of eight cents an hour, while those paid by piece work rates will be reduced approximately twelve and one half per cent.

The basic eight hour day will be eliminated in the Armour and Swift plants.

Altho Armour's and Swift's are the only packing concerns to make announcements of contemplated wage cuts, it is understood that other packing concerns are preparing to take similar action.

The movement affects the plants of Swift and Armour thruout the entire country. In Chicago alone, approximately 35,000 workers are concerned.

That the announcement of wage reductions will bring about a strike in the packing industry was regarded as highly probable today. Leaders of the packing house employees' unions already have declared that they will not accept a reduction in wages.

A conference of employees will begin at Omaha, Neb., tomorrow at which measures to protect the interest of the workers will be discussed in view of the announcement today of wage reductions in the two largest plants in the industry the conference at Omaha assumes added importance. Labor leaders have promised to discuss plans of mediation before planning strike action, but it is certain that talk of strikes will crop out at the Omaha meeting.

Coincident with the announcement of wage reductions, officials of the Armour and Swift concerns made known that they are at work on a plan whereby their employees will be given a voice in the management of the packing plants. Details of this plan are to be announced in the near future, today's statements say.

AMERICA'S DEBT TO GREAT BRITAIN IS ONLY FEW MILLION

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Sir Ernest Raeburn, representing the British government, and Brig. Gen. W. G. Connor, representing the United States, have just reached an agreement as to the amount due Great Britain from the war department in payment of claims for the transportation of American soldiers to France on British vessels, it was learned today.

The amount is understood to be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000. The original figure which covered the transportation charges was more than a million troops was approximately $105,000,000 but was reduced to its present proportions by a number of advance payments.

Gen. Connor will render his report to Secretary of War Weeks immediately and the secretary is expected to turn the matter over to the treasury department without delay.

Sir Ernest Raeburn having successfully concluded his mission, is return to London.

War department funds for payment of this obligation are said to be available until June 30, or the end of the present fiscal year. The information is lacking as to whether payment will be in cash of the amount charged off against the $5,000,000,000 Great Britain owes the United States.

A few don'ts are: Don't use a painted box because paint is not found in nature and retains the heat from the sun.

Don't use a metal box or tin can, because metal is a conductor of heat. Don't use houses with tar paper or metal roofing as they absorb heat.

Don't place the houses where the sun will not shine on them.

Don't make the covering on the roof so small that the rain will beat in the entrance.

Don't put perches before the entrances. They are not necessary and only make it easier for the English sparrow to annoy the occupant.

HARDING'S PLAN

ber and afterwards. He made no attempt at concealment of the fact that Republican members of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee differed as to whether tariff duties or domestic taxation should be revised first when the new congress convenes, but he indicated he was hopeful that an agreement would be reached after a careful canvass of the senate and house is made.

The president made it plain he did not desire the impression should go forth that it was his purpose to consult only a small group of men who are the recognized Republican leaders of congress. He wanted to sound out the sentiment of the full Republican majority of congress to ascertain the views of other senators and congressmen as to what should be done to meet the grave domestic problems confronting the country.

Last night's conference was only a beginning the president said. A beginning in the touching of elbows between the executive and legislative branches of our government in a determined effort to solve the many problems we face.

The discussion was pleasing and interesting," he continued. "It will lead, I am sure, to good results. It was not determined whether there should be an emergency tariff at the outset of the new congress or whether the question of revenue revision should be first taken up. There was a wide divergence of opinion as to that.

"Without committing ourselves to details, we started upon the formulation of a legislative program by which we hope there will be much progress made when the new congress is convened and which will lead to the fullest co-operation between the executive and congress.

"It is too early now to anticipate what the first steps will be when congress meets. We only discussed domestic problems last night. Foreign questions were by common assent left to future discussion. There will be other conferences. It is my purpose to keep in close touch with congress and its members as well as its leaders. We have made a good start."

"Was there any proposal for one bill combining tariff and tax revision discussed?" the president was asked.

"There was not," he replied.

"We discussed both the tariff and taxation and the form the revision of each would probably take. That was all. Without going into details, we mapped out a program which we expect to see take definite and final form satisfactorily. There is much to be done, but we believe it will all be accomplished successfully."

"We believe last night's conference was a successful step in the fulfillment of that type of government, of that co-operation between the executive and legislative branches which is most likely to render good service to the country. The belief that all will end well."

EASTER WARDROBE

Saucy hats with a perky bunch of flowers or a tantalizing feather are replacing the more severe tailored shapes for people on whom Dame Nature has been less kind in distributing even features. Voils also play an important part this season. They are gay and ornamental, and are being worn on the plainer turbans.

What is more appealing, more bewitching for the small face or the dainty miss, than the demure poke bonnet, gay in colors, flower trimmed and beribboned? This would even serve the purpose of a mid-summer hat and could be worn with any light, airy frock.

Yes, its true, all these styles are being widely worn this year, so my lady, take heed, study thy face and features and with little or no trouble you can select an ultra-fashionable bonnet for the Easter parade.

FACTS ABOUT OPTOMETRY

By OTIS G. MORSE

NUMBER TWENTY-EIGHT OF THE SERIES

Many of the optical colleges and schools confer the degree of Op D upon their graduates. But the average Optometrist attaches far more importance to the value of the service he renders the public than to the professional title by which he is known.

The better informed class of patient who consults an Optometrist does so for the benefit to his sight which he hopes to receive. No person should visit an Optometrist for the purpose of purchasing a pair of glasses, but rather to consult him regarding his vision and to undergo an examination to determine whether he is or is not in need of an Optometrist's service.

That is the pattern makes a professional man upon the Optometrist. If the result of the test should show the need of glasses, of course the Optometrist will furnish them—otherwise not.

REORGANIZATION OF DIPLOMATIC CORPS TO COME AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, March 8.—New American diplomatic representatives—who are to be the spokesmen overseas of the Harding administration and its policies—may be passed upon today by the senate and the senate foreign relations committee.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Mass., Republican leader of the senate and chairman of the foreign relations committee, indicated that he expected a list of nominations for diplomatic and consular posts to be submitted by President Harding for immediate action.

It is said to be the president's desire to have the reorganization of the American diplomatic corps affected speedily.

A meeting of the foreign relations committee will be the first under a Republican administration in eight years.

Close co-operation between Senator Lodge and the white house and state department is planned, despite the narrow margin by which Lodge and his friends control the committee.

Two Die In Crash

CINCINNATI, March 8.—William T. Clark, 40, Pittsburgh, Pa., engineer, was instantly killed and Cornelius Dorgan, 45, Newport, Ky., well known labor leader, died while being taken to the hospital, when their motorcycle skidded into a steel guardrail at the Cincinnati end of the Newport bridge yesterday.

Dorgan's head was split wide open.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache, no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly. It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffy and miserable.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Exactly and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 3/4 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If you want it tastier, good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

Its strong action is by quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—coughs and cures the inflammation, soothes the inflamed membranes and gradually but surely the persistent throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a small and highly concentrated compound of geranium. Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing power on membranes. A few drops immediately by asking your druggist for "3/4 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. BAKER RETIRES TO HIS LAW PRACTICE

CLEVELAND, March 8.—Newton D. Baker, for five years secretary of war, under whose administration an army of 400,000 was equipped, armed and drilled was back at his law offices today, a private citizen, ready to turn his attention once more to earning a living for his family and himself. He arrived with his wife and three children yesterday from Washington.

"I am not even thinking of politics," said the former war secretary when asked if he would again take up his political activities where he left them when he went to Washington. "Of course I am interested in city government and later I may have something to say."

Admirers will give a banquet in his honor Thursday evening and at that time Mr. Baker is expected to outline his views on political affairs.

BROOME & HERBEGGS SERVICE PRINTERS

GAME PROTECTORS WILL PRODUCE AS WELL AS PROTEST

COLUMBUS, March 8.—According to A. C. Baxter, chief of the bureau of fish and game of Ohio, the work of the game protectors this year is going to be productive. It will be a part of their work to produce game for Ohio sportsmen and farmers, as well as to arrest those who violate the game laws. Game protectors will be schooled in game breeding and will have personal charge of hatching and rearing pheasants, wild turkeys and other game in their various counties this year. Game reared by the protectors, as well as the game birds and animals reared on the game farm at Wellington, will be distributed on game refuge or sanctuary territory. The state is now dotted with sanctuaries, and before the next hunting season it is planned to have the sanctuaries in every county as well as in the Lake Erie marshes and on wild lands in southern Ohio.

A bill to be introduced by Senator J. F. Atwood, will provide for public hunting grounds on wild lands, to be leased or purchased with hunters' license money. This will take much of the trespassing from farm lands and will give Ohio sportsmen a place of their own on which to camp and hunt. Some of this land can be leased for ten cents an acre and some can be purchased very cheaply. Lake Erie marsh territory will also be acquired wherever possible for the benefit of the sportsmen of the state.

Spawning grounds are to be set aside in east, west or middle harbors. This is a measure that many northern Ohio fishermen have advocated for some time. Spawning grounds will also be set aside and closed to fishing during the spawning season in all the inland lakes and reservoirs and along many streams.

FLAPPING GOLOSHES ARE ONLY A WASTE OF ENERGY FOR FLAPPERS

CHICAGO, March 8.—Should the flapping flappers of New Trier High School button up their goloshes? Miss Jessie Lloyd, associate editor of the New Trier News, and sister of William Bross Lloyd, millionaire communist, says yes and is leading a litigious fight to compel them to do so.

Incidentally Miss Lloyd brings forth a new theory as to why goloshes should not be allowed to flap. Writing in a recent issue of the school paper, she says:

"On a golosh there are two parts that flap—on a pair four parts. Each part flaps a distance of two inches every step and probably weighs an ounce. Therefore at every step one flapper develops four inch-ounces of energy.

"Considering that each girl lives on the average of 55 blocks from school, and that the average block is 250 feet long, and that the girl travels two feet every step, also that each girl not only goes to school each day but also returns, and that out of a school year of thirty-eight weeks of five and one-half days half of the days are considered in times for wearing said goloshes, we have the result of 1,450,450 foot-pounds of energy developed by the entire flapper aggregation of New Trier in one year's time.

FASHIONABLE HOTEL GUESTS HAVE SCARE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—Hundreds of guests at the fashionable St. Francis hotel were awakened early today when fire in the soap factory and laundry on the roof of the hotel caused damage amounting to probably $75,000 and brot all the city's fire-fighting apparatus to the scene.

There was no panic but the dull explosion which preceded the fire awakened guests and all the frightened guests swarmed from their rooms in various states of night attire.

The fire was under control in about an hour.

Charm of Motherhood

THERE are many homes once childless that now are blessed with healthy, happy children, because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored the mother to a healthy, normal physical condition.

The following letters give the experience of two young women and prove the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in such cases.

Chicago, Ill.—"I was always tired, my head always ached, and my back ached until I could hardly stand the pain. I doctored for years, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would help me, and that I could not have children. A friend asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles of it and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have a fine baby boy, thanks to what your medicine did for me in restoring my health. I can highly recommend the Compound to all women who suffer from female ills."—Mrs. Wm. Reiss, 304 Willow St., Chicago, Ill.

Marinette, Wis.—"I was in a very nervous condition, was irregular, and could not have any children. I took doctor's medicine without success, and he advised an operation. My husband brought me one of your booklets and asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon felt benefited by its use, became regular, and now we have a fine baby girl after having been married nine years. I am always glad to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends who suffer from such troubles."—Mrs. H. B. Held, 330 Jefferson St., Marinette, Wis.

PANAMANS PREPARE TO FIGHT DESPITE HUGHES'S WARNING

BALBOA, PANAMA, Mar. 8.—President Porras, of Panama, announced that he would refer Secretary of State Hughes's warning note on the Panama-Costa Rica clash to the Panamanian National assembly this afternoon. The president said that he would abide by any decision reached by the national assembly. He expressed regret that Secretary Hughes made chief justice White's territorial award the basis of mediation, pointing out that Panama had rejected the White decision seven years ago. It was understood that the national assembly would reject the American offer of mediation on the ground that the constitution of the republic recognized only the Loubet award and not the award of Chief Justice White.

Quantities of arms and ammunition are being received in Panama and the government will soon have about 500 well equipped soldiers at the Sixaola river, the scene of the disputed territory. There was no further word of hostilities, but there were indications the Panamanians might attack when their forces were strengthened. President Porras said that Panama would accept an arbitration on the basis of the Loubet award, but would continue to reject mediation along the lines of the White award. He suggested the league of nations use its offices to end the dispute or that the United States and two South American powers join in bringing about an understanding between Panama and Costa Rica.

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and creamy, some smeared with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with lecithin, Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating "Iron" which Nature intended it to have for health. They are found in Bio-feron, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them.

SOVIET TROOPS

Petrograd from the Fortress of Kron-stadt.

At last reports the fortress of Kron-stadt was held by the Whites, or anti-Bolsheviks.

Soviet troops that were ordered against the insurgent garrison of Kronstadt attempted to cross on the ice. The cruiser Petropavlovsk, which is in the hands of the rebels, opened fire upon the red troops, putting them to flight.

A TWIN MOVEMENT

"There are really two revolutions in progress against the Lenin-Trotsky regime," said a Helsingfors dispatch to the Daily Express. "One has its center at Petrograd and the other is directed from Moscow. The Petrograd revolt is a movement on the part of the 'right' political party whose members are disenchanted with Soviet rule and are demanding freedom of speech and the press and the right of individual trade. Moderate Social ists and disenchanted workmen joined the rebels. The Moscow movement is being carried out by the 'Left' political party which is dissatisfied with the leadership of Lenin and Trotsky.
It is improbable that the revolutionary movements now under way in Russia will succeed in overthrowing either Lenin or Trotsky. Those who look for the present revolution to be successful or for the early downfall of Bolshevism in Russia are likely to be disappointed."

The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Helsingfors reported that the Soviet had offered far-reaching concessions to the rebels. The Petrograd Soviet has proposed peace negotiations to the Kronstadt leaders of the revolt.

Part of Kronstadt and Livynos are in flames," said another Helsingfors dispatch to the Daily Express this afternoon. The garrison at Krasnaja-gorka has joined the insurgents. The city of Petrograd and the forts on the outskirts have been under heavy bombardment. Trotsky and Kamenoff have arrived at Petrograd with light artillery to reinforce the forts at Sestroretsk, Livynos and Tarhovka.

"It is reported in Helsingfors that anti-Bolshevik insurgents and striking workmen have seized Odessa," said a Central News dispatch from Helsingfors this afternoon. The Moscow Soviet was reported to be sending troops to retake the city.

"The bombardment at Petrograd Monday was very severe," said a third Helsingfors dispatch to the Daily Express. "It began at 6 o'clock in the morning with 35 shells dropping every minute. About 9 o'clock it weakened.
There was intense fighting in the streets of Petrograd during which machine guns were used.

"Bolshevik soldiers are manning the frontier between Russia and Finland, fearing assistance from the Finnish Whites.

2 DATES PER WEEK PLENTY FOR CO-EDS IN OPINION OF O. S. U. DEAN OF WOMEN

COLUMBUS, March 8.—Co-eds at Ohio State university should have but two dates a week at the most; one date a week, if possible.

No co-ed should go out dating on week work-a-day nights. No girl should attempt to step out on all of her week-end nights, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

"She can't do it and pass her work," argues Miss Elizabeth Conrad, dean of women of the university. "Three nights a week of social activities are too much for the best student in the university. No girl can come home from a party and get her lessons. She must give up her mid-week social activities if she intends to pass her work."

LONDON ELITE REALLY MUST PAY ITS BILLS

It's Positively Shocking, But Old Days of Everlasting Credit Have Changed to
"Spot Cash" Business

LONDON, March 8.—Becky Sharp, and all of her ilk have been ruled out of the west end they haven't a chance any more of living on their wits and by the lavish credit which, of yore, tradesmen extended as a matter of course to all of the socially elect, or to those that appeared to have been elected.

Figuratively speaking, "spot cash" is the rule. Not spot cash exactly as we understand it in America, but at least monthly settlements and prompt payment of bills.

England of old, was perhaps the world's greatest city for long-time credit. Really, one never even considered paying for a thing on purchase.
It would be indelicate in a "tradesman" to suggest such a thing, or to be over-fast about sending his account.
Some sent quarterly bills, with slight expectation of payment the first one or twice they circularized their customers. Others rendered accounts every six months or a year. They worried not; they obtained one to two years' credit from their wholesalers.

In the best circles money wasn't discussed. It just wasn't done.

Today the city, off across London
from the district of social frivolity, is buried in gloom. The city men measure their financial standing by the extent of "overdraft" a bank permits them. They're proud over an over-draft. Only a grade double-A business man is allowed that luxury in these days of close money. There's a brighter outlook due this month, 'tis said. The tide will turn them.
Must Settle Now.

But the West End won't change. It has entered a new era. The old days of long accounts and forelock touching tradesmen are gone.

Saville Row and Sackville Street render their tailoring accounts monthly now instead of semi-annually or yearly. Garage accounts are payable fortnightly. And must be paid. Hotels insist on weekly settlements. Servants are paid monthly instead of quarterly, and there are no days, or weeks, or months of grace, unless the socially elect wish to face a threatened walkout.

The social leaders at the Victorian ace who shuddered at the introduction of the subjects of surgical operations and ailments into the high caste of recognized dinner subjects, if any are left, are getting a sharper shock.
Money, that subject that for years was as socially undiscussable as one's honor is the strongest motif of the dinner hour chatter to-day.

Society openly admits that it moves by what it can or cannot afford. The suffering realm of the West End is now become "ready money Mayfair."

LEGIONAIRES HEAR ADDRESS BY PASTOR

Rev. J. I. Wean addressed a large number of the local American Legion boys at a meeting of Ralph Courtright Post No. 65 Monday night. His talk was confined entirely to the "American Legion" and how that organization was benefiting the nation.
Rev. Wean explained how the American Legion was safeguarding the American principals in many respects. He upheld the legion thoroly in his address.

In addition to Rev. Wean's talk the reports of the various committees were read. The members of the Sick committee, who are seeing after the disabled ex-soldiers, reported progress.

The minstrel proposition was also discussed. A representative of the John B. Rogers' Producing Co. will be in this city to take full charge of the Legionnaires' 1921 minstrel show within the next few days.

Tomato Disease Harmful During Warm Season

A disease causing loss to tomato growers in greenhouses during the past season has been identified by the department of botany at the Ohio Experiment Station as gray mold drop,
or Botrytis.

It was found that the disease gained headway whenever moisture conditions in the greenhouse were excessive. The disease caused serious loss in houses which were not ventilated sufficiently.

Proper ventilation and watering, however, has quickly checked development so that no new infection occurred, except where care was not observed in the removal of decayed fruit and diseased fruit spurs.

Under average greenhouse conditions, the disease does not frequently make its appearance, but during warm seasons similar to that experienced during the past winter, the disease might become quite destructive.

NO OPPOSITION

ties have appealed to the populace to remain calm. Belgium sent a regiment of her crack grenadiers into Germany,
but the French government announced that only a few French reinforcements would be ordered to the front and that no new classes would be called to the colors.

The cabinet held a brief session this morning to canvass the situation.

BERLIN, March 8.—German newspapers today printed bitter protests against the allies' indemnity penalties and the advance of the allied troops into Germany.

The cabinet decided to postpone a definite verdict upon the new situation which has arisen over indemnity until the foreign minister, Walter Simons, arrives from London and reports.

President Ebert has appealed to the German nation to remain calm in the face of the allied advance from the Rhine. The German cabinet held a session at midnight. It was reported that Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, was to be upheld entirely for his course at London in rejecting the allies' demand for 226,000,000,000
gold marks indemnity.

Following a two hour session by the German cabinet Monday night, it was announced today that the government will remain firm in opposition to the Paris indemnity decisions of the allies. The Socialists at Cologne have pledged their support to the government and the people of Dusseldorf, now occupied by the allies, sent a message asking the government to continue its defiance of the allies' demands. For a time Germany will play a passive role, awaiting the next move of the allies. Whether or not there will be any cabinet changes will not be revealed until foreign minister Walter Simons reported to the reichstag probably on Thursday.

The cabinet has received information from the Ruhr district that Belgian and French troops were on the move hours before Dr. Simons' message was received here from London announcing that the allies were putting their penalties into effect.

LONDON, March 8.—The German delegates to the indemnity conference, headed by Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, left for home this afternoon.

All were in civilian dress, even General Von Seeckt, who had appeared at yesterday's sessions in full dress uniform with a long sword at his belt.
There was much hat lifting and bowing on the platform of Victoria station while the Germans were waiting for their train. Dr. Simons said he thot that he would be back in London in a few weeks, as he felt confident the conference would be reopened. On the same train with the Germans were a number of Belgian army officers, who had been recalled from leave of absence owing to the allies' decision to advance on the Rhine.
